

University of Florida Geomatics

Mapping out your future

The Profession of Surveying and Mapping

UF Graduates are in demand and can expect:

- 100% Job Placement
- Starting salaries at $45,000
- 50% own businesses within 5 years
- 65% manage a department in surveying and mapping

Join one of the country's leading Universities and become a leader in your profession!

Contact Information:
Recruiting@fsms.org

UF offers the only full-service Geomatics program in the Southeast. Geomatics encompasses the field of Surveying and Mapping, an exciting profession that utilizes cutting edge technology to measure the features of the earth in order to determine property lines, ensure the accuracy of construction projects, and produce updated maps used by architects, engineers, lawyers, and many other professionals.

Scholarships: We'd like to reward you by offering scholarships to deserving students.

Diversity: Geomatics encompasses several areas of learning that includes: law, computers science, math, environmental studies, and business.

Success: With such a growing demand, surveyors and mappers can expect lucrative career opportunities for years to come. UF Geomatics will put you on the path to great success!